JUDICIAL FOR JULY, 1905.

NOTES.

FILE No. 171 of 1904-05.

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

From the Inspector General of Police in Mysore, No. 6313—669, dated 8th May 1905.

Submits certain proposals for the early sanction of Government, as regards the redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

1. The Inspector General of Police states that the main object of the scheme is to preclude ill-paid and ill-educated officers from investigating cognizable crimes. The proposed re-distribution is made with the existing force and in fact with a savings in cost of Rs. 4 a month and in men of nine dafadars and seven men.

2. The Inspector General marks the area of an investigating centre roughly at 150 square miles, the usual limits for a Police station, except in certain cases in consideration of jungle tracts, population and incidence of crime.

3. The present scheme gives not less than two such centres to each taluk instead of about one as at present and each centre shall therefore be obliged to look after the whole Police work of the range and maintain a full set of registers which will consequently relieve the taluk head-quarters from much of its writing and forwarding work.

4. Several ghats are proposed to be watched by ghat talaries instead of by constables. The Deputy Commissioner having taken objection to the abolition of the out-posts at Vittalammallappanakaive and Holalur, the Inspector General suggests that daily road patrol is enough.

5. In out-of-the-way places, sub-stations and out-posts are proposed to be located.

6. The Shimoga Town Police is reduced in strength as when necessary it can draft men from the District Reserve which is proposed to be strengthened by an addition of two Jamadars, three Dafadars and twenty men.

7. The Inspector General requests that the scheme be given a practical trial in the district of Shimoga, to enable him to gain valuable data to formulate similar schemes for the other districts of the State.

Before the question was formally placed before Government for approval, I had an opportunity of discussing the subject with Mr. Carr and we are both agreed that a fair trial may be given to the proposal in the Shimoga District before the other districts are taken on hand. The scheme may be sanctioned tentatively for a year at the end of which the Inspector General may be requested to submit a report as regards its working.

12. It is immaterial whether or not, the designations of Jamadars and Dafadars are changed to Head Constables and Sergeants respectively, but the officers of the above grades bear the latter designations in the Bangalore and Mysore Cities, Kolar Gold Fields and the two Railway lines. If, however, the proposal is approved, the designations will be common to the whole force in the Province and interchange of officers of the above grades between the abovenamed forces and that of the districts will be rendered easy.

15. The proposals submitted by Mr. Carr for the re-distribution and re-allocation of the Police force in the Shimoga District appear to be well-considered. Their main features are, firstly, an increase in the number of investigating centres, secondly, a reduction in the number of investigating officers, and thirdly, better re-distribution of men.

16. At present there is only one investigating centre at each of the Taluk Head-quarters, which keeps all the Registers and Rosters and has consequently to do a considerable amount of clerical and transmitting work. According to Mr. Carr's proposal, the number of investigating centres will be raised to 20. The town of Shimoga and the Sub-Taluk of Kumsi will have one centre each, the Taluk of Shimoga and the Taluk of Tirthahalli three each and the rest of the taluks two each. Each centre will keep its own Registers and Rosters and will be responsible for the whole Police work of its range, thereby giving relief to the single centre existing at present. In fixing the number of centres, the main considerations that have weighed are the area of the Taluk, its population and the incidence of crime. Each centre has roughly been given an area of 150 square miles (about fifteen miles in length by ten miles in breadth) the area which is usually considered sufficient for the limits of a Police Station.

17. With regard to the number of investigating officers, it has been reduced from eighty to seventy-one. No officer drawing less than Rs. 20 a month will be placed in charge of an investigating centre or Head Station, or empowered to investigate cognizable crimes. In out-of-the-way places, senior sergeants or dafadars in charge of Sub-Stations will only have power to hold inquests, and receive and forward complaints and to keep a simple Occurrence Register, with Duty and Village Rosters. This reform is very much needed. At the time the Mysore Police was organized, it does not seem that the dafadars were required to do any investigation work. This duty has, however, devolved on them largely at present and low-paid and indifferently educated as they are, the restriction proposed by Mr. Carr may be considered beneficial. The Police Commission expressed the opinion that no cognizable crime should be investigated by a Police officer drawing less than Rs. 25. In Mysore, as stated by Mr. Carr, it appears to be enough to rule that no officer below the grade of Jamadar or Head Constable should be empowered to handle cognizable cases.

18. The distribution of the force proposed by Mr. Carr is found to give to all important stations an extra number of men, taken from the smaller stations or out-posts, where they are no longer required. The Ghats and Kanves will be watched by Ghat Talaries, where procurable, instead of by constables. The usual beats will be carried out by the Main Stations instead of by the Sub-Stations or Out-posts attached to them. The District Reserve will also be strengthened by the addition of two Jamadars, two Dafadars and twenty men.

19. According to the new scheme, there will be a saving of nine dafadars and seven men, and in cost of Rs. 48 per annum, and it entails no dislocation of work. The scheme may, therefore, be graciously approved, so that it may be brought into operation at once.

20. There is no need to drop the designations of Jamadar and Dafadar in favor of Head Constable and Sergeant respectively throughout the State, merely because the change ensure uniformity. No inconvenience has been felt hitherto and it is inexpedient to replace by new name those with which the people have become well acquainted by long familiarity. After some experience is gained of the working of the scheme in Shimoga District, the question of introducing similar schemes in other districts may be considered.

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

FILE NO. 171 OF 1904-05.

Letter No. 6313—669, dated the 3rd May 1905, from the Inspector General of Police in Mysore.

I have the honor to place before Government proposals for the redistribution and reallocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District. Serial No. 1.

2. In the working out of the scheme I have been guided by the accurate local knowledge of the Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Narayana Rao, and of the Assistant Superintendent of Police, Mr. Subba Rao ; and I have myself studied the local needs on the spot.

3. Mr. Narayana Rao, the Deputy Commissioner, agrees with me in almost all my proposals, excepting that he asks for three more investigating centres, viz., one at Karur, and another at Ananthapur in the Sagar Taluk ; and one at Nagar in the Nagar Taluk.

Statement A, enclosed, clearly shows that the average annual crime for the past ten years of both Nagar and Sagar Taluks is very light, being 53 and 59 cases respectively ; these taluks are sparsely populated, having a population of 85 and 84 per square mile respectively. I therefore see no necessity to give these taluks, at any rate for the present, more than two investigating centres. Ananthapur, Karur and Nagar, have, however, been provided with first class sergeants, and a sufficient number of men to meet all emergencies, the sergeants being empowered to hold inquests and to receive and forward complaints to investigating officers.

The Deputy Commissioner objects to the abolition of the Police outposts at Vittalammallappanakavve and Holalur, but I think the work of these outposts can be better carried out by deputing men daily for road patrol from the adjoining stations, which have on this account been strengthened.

4. The idea of creating investigating centres, reducing the numbers of investigating officers, and redistributing the Police force in districts to better advantage, has been under consideration for some time past, and the scheme now submitted gives this idea practical shape.

In the report just issued, the Police Commission lay great stress on what they consider the most serious fault of Police Administration in British India, namely, the allowing of ill-paid, ill-educated Police Officers to take up the investigation of cognizable cases. The Commission are of opinion that no cognizable crime should be investigated by Police Officers drawing less than Rs. 25 a month. In fact they go further, and recommend only Sub-Inspectors on Rs. 50 and upwards, being placed in charge of stations.

In Mysore, I consider, however, that there is no need to go as far as this, apart from the prohibitive cost of such a scheme ; but I would propose that no officer below the grade of Jamadar or Head Constable should be empowered to handle cognizable cases.

First class sergeants or dafadars might, however, be authorized to hold inquests, as it is impossible in out-of-the-way places, for an investigating officer to be always on the spot in time to hold an inquest, or to order a body to be taken for post mortem.

5. In my scheme, by increasing the number of investigating centres, I endeavour to keep a sufficient number of fairly well-paid investigating officers in each taluk, to deal with all important cognizable crime.

At the time of the organization of the Mysore Police it was no doubt intended that the main work of investigation should fall on superior Police officers, namely on Amildars, Inspectors and Jamadars ; the low-paid dafadars being employed on less responsible work ; but from one reason or another, this rule has been lost sight of ; and the consequence has been, that superior officers have neglected their duties, and low-paid subordinates have gradually acquired more powers than was at all advisable.

6. My proposals also include the redistribution and reallocation of the Police force in the Shimoga District. This will result in the District Reserve being so greatly strengthened that it will be in a position to perform all the legitimate duties of a District Reserve.

7. I trust that Government will see their way to allowing the scheme to be given a practical trial as soon as possible ; and by testing how it works in an important frontier district like Shimoga, enable me to gain valuable data on which to work when formulating similar reallocation schemes for the other districts of the Province.

8. A proposition statement showing the present and proposed investigating centres, sub-stations, and outposts with their allocation, together with a map of the district, are attached.

9. The scheme as worked out results in a saving in cost of Rs. 4 per mensem or Rs. 48 per annum, and in men of nine dafadars and seven men.

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

(ENCLOSURE.)

MEMORANDUM.

Aims and Objects of the New Scheme.

The main object of this scheme is to preclude officers drawing less than Rs. 20 a month from being in charge of investigating centres or head stations, or empowered to investigate cognizable crime.

2. My first idea was to have investigating Head Constables of three grades, viz., Rs. 25 + 8, 20 + 8 and 16 + 8, and to give each taluk three or more investigating centres; but in reconsideration, and after perusal of the Report of the Government of India Police Commission, which has just been published, I came to the conclusion that Rs. 16 pay was too low for a responsible officer in charge of an investigating centre. Three or more investigating centres in each taluk are unnecessary in a sparsely populated Province like Mysore, where crime also is exceedingly light.

3. I have endeavoured as far as possible to keep the area of an investigating centre roughly at 150 sq. miles, say 15 miles long by 10 miles broad, the area which is usually considered sufficient for the limits of a Police Station. This rule cannot, however, be carried out strictly in all instances, especially in sparsely populated and jungle tracts. The population and early incidence of crime have also equally to be considered. The areas of investigating centres have therefore been worked out with these three considerations in view.

4. The reallocation does not interfere in any way with the beat work of patrolling roads and villages.

5. In out-of-the-way places, sub-stations in charge of senior sergeants or dafadars have been proposed; such sergeants being empowered to hold inquests, and receive and forward complaints, and to keep a simple Occurrence Register, with Duty and Village Rosters.

6. The advantages of the new scheme will be: (1) that every taluk will be provided with at least two investigating centres, instead of as now, only one; (2) that each investigating centre will have to keep a full set of Registers and Rosters, as now kept at taluk head-quarters only; thus relieving the taluk head-quarters of a considerable amount of writing and forwarding work, with regard to Crime Registers, License Registers, Process Registers and the like; (3) that each investigating centre will be responsible for the whole Police work of its Range.

(NOTE.—The Taluk Inspector will in addition keep a personal set of registers showing the Police work of his taluk. To help him to do this properly, he will be allowed a literate 1st class constable or sergeant, as circuit writer.)

7. The new scheme redistributes the force more usefully and gives to all important stations an extra number of men, who have been taken from the smaller stations or outposts where they are no longer required.

Several ghats or kanves will be watched by ghat talaras, where procurable, instead of by constables; thus showing a further saving.

8. As regards beats, there need be no difficulty, as the main station or investigating centre in the new scheme, will carry out the beats which were before done by the sub-station or outpost attached to it.

There will be in fact no dislocation of the Police work of the district, the Force being merely distributed more equally and to better advantage. The scheme can therefore be brought into operation at once.

9. My proposals only aim at a redistribution of the men; and an assigning of the area over which investigating centres, sub-stations, and outposts, should have authority.

With regard to Shimoga Town the enclosed copy of my Memo on the inspection of the town clearly shows the reason for reduction in strength. Being the head-quarter town, it will be possible to draft men from the District Reserve, to help the Town Police when necessity arises.

10. Another distinct advantage gained by the redistribution of the District Force will be the strengthening of the District Reserve, by the addition to the present strength of two jama-lars, two dafadars and 20 men. This additional number will have a most beneficial effect on the working of the Force in the district, as they can be occasionally used to fill up casualties and to carry out the duty of escort of prisoners (a very heavy item especially in Shimoga). Over and above orderlies, and the men of the present reserve now on duty at the courts, the Superintendent will now have a well-drilled and well-disciplined body of 20 or 25 men at district head-quarters to meet emergencies, quell riots, and do border patrol during the lacy season; in fact to more or less take the place of the Special Reserve; or at any rate assist the Special Reserve when it is necessary to send it out to the district.

11. The present District Reserve is one only in name, all the men being absorbed by orderly duty, and doing office work at the District Police Office.

*Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

The proposed allocation should not be interfered with by District Officers, without the special sanction of the Inspector General, except, of course, as a temporary measure, when any unforeseen emergency arises.

12. It should be noted that the redistribution of the Force can be arranged for with the Force already at our disposal, and at no additional cost to Government; in fact, with a saving in cost of a few rupees, and in the matter of men of nine dafadars and seven men. The savings will be Rs. 4 a month, but this does not include cost of clothing, pension, and contingent expenses, connected with the saving of sixteen men.

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

Letter No. 6719—725 Gen. I, dated Bangalore 26—27th May 1905, from Rao Bahadur C. Malliah, Esqr., Inspector General of Police in Mysore, to B. K. Venkatawarada Iyengar, Esqr., Secy. to Govt. of Mysore, Gen. & Rev. Dept.

In continuation of this office letter No. 6313—669, dated 8th May 1905, I Serial No. 3. have the honor to forward herewith a copy of the memo of inspection of the Shimoga Town referred to in para 9 of my memorandum forwarded with the letter quoted above.

[ENCLOSURE TO THE ABOVE].

Memo of inspection of Shimoga Town and Taluk Police by the Inspector General of Police on 16th February 1905.

1. SHIMOGA TOWN.

The town strength is one jamadar, five dafadars and twenty-nine men. One dafadar stops at the Head Station and the other four are located in out-posts in the town (Fort, Nagar Darvaz, Sigehatti and Sandalkote).

No registers are kept in these out-posts and there is therefore no necessity for dafadars for each of them. These stations may be abolished, the day duty constables being ordered to stand near them, on fixed beats.

There is very little traffic near the Fort Station. The constables may therefore be usefully placed near the Railway Station, on the other side of the bridge and near the toll-gate. The Railway Police Station may be used by the Town Police also, and the Railway sergeant will check the Beat Chits of the constables.

In future one dafadar will attend to the clerical work of the Head Station; one will check beats, and one may be kept for extra work. Two dafadars will be spared from the town. There will therefore be a saving of two dafadars over this arrangement.

At present constables patrol the town, day and night. There is no necessity for this. All that is required during the day is that two or three constables should be placed at fixed points in important places to regulate traffic. Between the hours of 8 and 11 in the morning and 3 to 7 in the evening the traffic is most heavy. The day beat men may be placed on duty during these hours and taken off duty from 11 to 3 p. m. On shandy days an extra number of constables may be placed on duty at the market.

At night, the town should be regularly patrolled. The number of night beats may be cut down from 8 to 4. Two constables should always be sent out together on each beat at night, and a fairly long beat should be assigned to them. The constables should be relieved once during the night, at 1 a. m. The first patrol being on duty from 9 to 1 and the second from 1 to 6. Night duty constables when off duty should sleep in the station, so that on any sudden alarm or emergency men may be available.

Each dafadar will check night patrols twice a week, the jamadar twice, and the Inspector once a week.

An officer's Duty Book should be kept in the town station and each officer should enter in it the time of his coming to and departure from the station. No space should be left between two entries. It will then be easy to find out who was on duty at a particular hour.

1 jamadar,
3 dafadars,
16 constables for night beats,
4 constables for day beats,
5 constables for extra duties and to meet casualties.

Total 29 This will effect a saving of four constables without detriment to town work.

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District

Strength. One jamadar, two dafadars and twenty-two men. These detailed are as follows:—

- 2 orderlies,
- 10 on road beats,
- 5 stationed at kanves,
- 2 station haziri,
- and 3 for village beats.

Road beats. It should be ascertained first whether the cart traffic on each separate road is usually during the day or night. If by night, or when a number of carts are going to a large weekly “santhe” or market, they must be collected together, and one or two armed constables should be sent with them.

Mookam beats. Mookam beats should be the rule for village beats. Two constables should go out together on each beat. They should start out on the first day and patrol a number of villages, sleep in an out-post or Ookad; look up some more villages next day and return to the station that night or if there are a number of villages the third night. Out of the 120 villages within the Shimoga Head Station limits, at least half the number can be visited by road beat constables, going or returning.

Crime. Out of 47 cognizable cases reported in the taluk for the year, there have been only three imported cases.

(This last a very doubtful case)

Gangs. There are 39 Criminal gangs within the station limits 34 of these are Lambanics.

GENERAL.

The jamadars may wear short swords. They will be supplied shortly with belts and dark blue sashes.

A list in the attached form showing the days of the week on which the nearest 'santhes' are held, the number of carts and people generally attending them, will be hung up in each Police Station, and arrangements should be made to see that carts and passengers are well looked after and guarded "en route."

Redistribution and allocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District.

Order No. J. 254-5—Police 1743, dated Bangalore 22nd July 1905, to the Inspector General of Police in Mysore, the Comptroller to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

The main features of the present proposal are an increase in the number of the investigating centres, a reduction in the number of the investigating officers and a better redistribution of men. Serial No. 3.

2. There is at present only one investigating centre at each of the taluk head-quarters which keeps all the registers and rosters, and has consequently to do a considerable amount of clerical and transmitting work. The number of the investigating centres will, according to the Inspector General's proposal, be raised to twenty. The town of Shimoga and the Sub-Taluk of Kumsi will have one centre each, the taluks of Shimoga and Tirthahalli three each, and the rest of the taluks two each. Each centre will keep its own registers and rosters and will be responsible for the whole Police work of its range, thereby giving relief to the single centre existing at present. In fixing the number of centres, the main considerations that have weighed are the area of the taluk, its population and the incidence of crime.

3. The number of the investigating officers has been reduced from eighty to seventy. No officer drawing less than Rs. 20 a month will be placed in charge of an investigating centre or head station, or empowered to investigate cognizable crime. This precludes officers below the grade of Jamadar or Head Constable from undertaking investigation work, but in out-of-the-way places, senior Sergeants or Dafadars in charge of sub-stations will have power to hear inquests, to receive and forward complaints and to keep a simple occurrence register with diaries and village rosters.

4. The distribution of the force proposed by the Inspector General is found to give to important stations an extra number of men taken from the smaller stations or outposts where they are no longer required. The ghats and kanves will be watched by the ghat talaris, who are procurable, instead of by constables. The usual beats will be carried out by the main stations instead of by the sub-stations or outposts attached to them. The District Reserve will be strengthened by the addition of two Jamadars, two Dafadars and twenty men.

5. These proposals appear to be well considered: and while effecting a reduction in the establishment by nine Dafadars and seven men and a saving in cost of Rs. 48 per annum, even at the same time no dislocation of work. The Government of His Highness the Maharaja therefore pleased to sanction the new scheme proposed by the Inspector General of Police which should be brought into force as early as practicable.

6. Government observe that there is no need to drop the designations of "Jamadar" and "Dafadar" in favor of "Head Constable" and "Sergeant" respectively, merely because change ensures uniformity. No inconvenience has been felt hitherto, and it is deemed expedient to replace by new names those with which the people have become well acquainted by long familiarity.

15) The proposals submitted by Mr. Carr for the re-distribution and re-allocation of the Police force in the Shimoga District appear to be well-considered. Their main features are, firstly, an increase in the number of investigating centres, secondly, a reduction in the number of investigating officers, and thirdly, a better re-distribution of men

16) At present there is only one investigating centre at each of the Taluk Head Quarters, which keep all the Registers and Rosters and has consequently to do a considerable amount of clerical and transmitting work. According to Mr. Carr's proposal, the number of investigating centres will be raised to 20. The town of Shimoga and the Sub-taluk of Kums will have one centre each, the Taluk of Shimoga and the Taluk of Thirthalli 3 each and the rest of the Taluks 2 each. Each centre will keep its own Registers and Rosters and will be responsible for the whole Police work of its range, thereby giving re-to the single centre existing at present. In fixing the number of centres, the main considerations that have weighed are the area of the Taluk, its population and the incidence of crime. Each centre has roughly been given an area of 150 Square miles (about 15 miles in length by 10 miles in breadth) - the area which is usually considered sufficient for the limits of a Police Station.

17) With regard to the number of investigating officers, it has been reduced from 80 to 71. No officer drawing less than Rs 20 a month will be placed in charge of an investigating centre or Head Station or empowered to investigate cognizable crimes. In out-of-the-way places, senior Sergeants or Duffedars in charge of Sub-Stations will only have power to receive inquests, and receive and forward complaints and to keep a simple Occurrence Register, with Duty and Village Rosters. This reform is very much needed. At the time the Mysore Police was organized, it does not seem that the Duffedars were required to do any investigation-work. This duty has, however, devolved on them largely at present and low-paid and indifferently educated as they are, the restriction proposed by Mr. Carr may be considered beneficial. The Police Commission expressed the opinion that no cognizable crime should be investigated by a Police officer drawing less than Rs 25. In Mysore, as stated by Mr. Carr it appears to be enough to rule that no officer below the grade of Jamedar or Head Constable should be empowered to handle cognizable cases.

8) The distribution of the force proposed by Mr. Carr is found to give to all important Stations an extra number of men, taken from the smaller Stations or Out-posts, where they are no longer required. The Ghats and Kanves will be watched by Ghat Talaries, where procurable, instead of by Constables. The usual beats will be carried out by the Main Stations instead of by the Sub-Stations or Out-posts attached to them. The District Reserve will also be strengthened by the addition of 2 Jamedars, 2 Duffedars and 20 men.

9) According to the new scheme, there will be a saving of 9 Duffedars and 7 men, and in cost of Rs 48 per annum, and it entails no dislocation of work. The scheme may, therefore, be graciously approved, and that it may be brought into operation at once.

20) There is no need to drop the designations of Jamedar and Duffedar in favor of Sergeant and Head Constable respectively throughout the State, merely because the change ensures uniformity. No inconvenience has been felt hitherto and it is inexpedient to replace by new names those with which the people have become well acquainted by long familiarity. After some experience is gained of the working of the scheme in Shimoga District, the question of introducing similar schemes in other Districts may be considered.

Office of the Inspector General of Police in Mysore
Dated, Bangalore, 3rd May 1905.

From,

F. E. C. Carr Esquire,
Inspector General of Police
in Mysore

To,

B. K. Venkatavaradaiengar Esquire,
Secretary to the Government of
His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,
General and Revenue Departments.

Sir,

I have the honor to place before Government proposals for the redistribution and reallocation of the Police force in the Shimoga District.

2. In the working out of the scheme I have been guided by the accurate local knowledge of the Deputy Commissioner Mr. Narayana Rao, and of the Assistant Superintendent of Police, Mr. Subba Rao; and I have myself studied the local needs on the spot.

3. Mr. Narayana Rao, the Deputy Commissioner agrees with me in almost all my proposals, excepting that he asks for three more investigating centres, viz., one at Karur, and another at Ananthapur in the Sagar Taluk; and one at Nagar in the Nagar Taluk.

Statement A. enclosed clearly shows that the average annual crime for the past 10 years of both Nagar and Sagar Taluks is very light, being 53 and 59 cases respectively; the Taluks are sparsely populated having a population of 85 and 84 per square mile respectively. I therefore see no necessity to give these Taluks, at any rate for the present, more than two investigating centres. Ananthapur, Karur, and Nagar, have however been provided with first class Sergeants, and a sufficient number of men to meet all-emergencies - the Sergeants being empowered to hold inquests and to receive and forward complaints to investigating officers.

The Deputy Commissioner objects to the abolition of the Police Out-posts at Vittalamallappanakanve and Holalur, but I think the work of these Out-posts can be better carried out, by deputing men daily for road patrol from the adjoining stations, which have on this account been strengthened.

4. The idea of creating investigating centres, reducing the numbers of investigating officers, and redistributing the Police Force in Districts to better advantage, has been under consideration for some time past, and the scheme now submitted gives this idea practical shape.

In the report just issued, the Police Commission lay great stress on what they consider the most serious fault of Police Administration in British India, namely the allowing of ill-paid, ill-educated Police Officers to take up the investigation of cognizable cases. The Commission are of opinion that no cognizable crime should be investigated by Police Officers drawing less than ₹25/- a month. In fact they go further, and recommend only Sub-Inspectors on ₹50/- and upwards, being placed in charge of Stations.

In Mysore, I consider however that there is no need to go as far as this, apart from the prohibitive cost of such a scheme; but I would propose that no officer below the grade of Jamedar or Head Constable, should be empowered to handle cognizable cases.

First class Sergeants or Duffedars, might however be authorized to hold inquests, as it is impossible in out-of at-of-the-way places, for an investigating officer to be always on the spot in time to hold an inquest, or to order a body to be taken for Post Mortem.

5. In my scheme, by increasing the number of investigating centres, I endeavour to keep a sufficient number of fairly well-paid investigating officers in each Taluk, to deal with all important cognizable crime.

At the time of the organization of the Mysore Police it was no doubt intended that the main work of investigation should fall on superior Police Officers, namely on Amildars, inspectors and Jamedars; the low-paid Duffedars being employed on less responsible work; but from one reason or another, this rule has been lost sight of; and the consequence has been, that superior officers have neglected their duties, and low-paid subordinates have gradually acquired more powers than was at all advisable.

6. My proposals also include the redistribution and reallocation of the Police Force in the Shimoga District. This will result in the District Reserve being so greatly strengthened that it will be in a position to perform all the legitimate duties of a District Reserve.

7. I trust that Government will see their way to allowing the scheme to be given a practical trial as soon as possible; and by testing how it works in an important frontier District like Shimoga, enable me to gain valuable data on which to work when formulating similar reallocation schemes for the other Districts of the Province.

8. A proposition statement showing the present and proposed investigating centres, Sub-Stations, and Out-Posts with their allocation; together with a map of the District are attached.

9. The scheme as worked out results in a saving in cost of Rs 4/- per mensem or Rs 48/- per annum, and in men of 9 Duffedars and 7 men.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

D. C. Carr

Inspector General of Police.

Aims and Objects of the New Scheme.

The main object of this scheme is to preclude officers drawing less than Rs 20/- a month from being in charge of investigating Centres or Head Stations, or empowered to investigate cognizable crime.

2. My first idea was to have investigating Head Constables of 3 grades viz. Rs 25+8, 20+8 and 16+8, and to give each Taluk three or more investigating centres; but on reconsideration, and after perusal of the Report of the Government of India Police Commission which has just been published, I came to the conclusion that Rs 16/- pay was too low for a responsible officer in charge of an investigating centre. Three or more investigating centres in each Taluk are unnecessary in a sparsely populated Province like Mysore, where crime also is exceedingly light.

3. I have endeavoured as far as possible to keep the area of an investigating centre roughly at 150 Sq. miles, say 15 miles long by 10 miles broad - the area which is usually considered sufficient for the limits of a Police Station. This rule cannot however be carried out strictly in all instances, especially in sparsely populated and jungle tracts. The population and yearly incidence of crime have also equally to be considered. of investigating centres have therefore been worked out these three considerations in view.

4. The reallocation does not interfere in any way the beat work of patrolling roads and villages.

5. In out-of-the-way places, Sub-Stations in charge of senior Sergeants or Duffedars have been proposed; such Sergeants being empowered to hold inquests, and receive and forward complaints, and to keep a simple Occurrence Register, with Duty and Village Rosters.

6. The advantages of the new scheme will be; (1) that ever

every Taluk will be provided with at least two investigating centres, instead of as now, only one; (2) that each investigating centre will have to keep a full set of Registers and Rosters, as now kept at Taluk Head Quarters only; thus relieving the Taluk Head Quarters of a considerable amount of writing and forwarding work, with regard to Crime Registers, License Registers, Process Registers and the like; (3) that each investigating centre will be responsible for the whole Police work of its Range.

NOTE:- (The Taluk Inspector will in addition keep a personal set of Registers showing the police work of his Taluk. To help him to do this properly, he will be allowed a literate 1st class constable or Sergeant, as circuit writer.)

7. The new scheme redistributes the Force more usefull and gives to all important stations an extra number of men, who have been taken from the smaller stations or Out-posts, where they are ~~no longer~~ required.

Several Ghats or Kanves will be watched by Ghat Talaries, where procurable, instead of by constables; thus showing a further saving.

8. As regards beats, there need be no difficulty, as the main station or investigating centre in the new scheme, will carry out the beats which were before done by the Sub-station or Out-post attached to it.

There will be ~~in~~ fact no dislocation of the Police work of the District, the Force being merely distributed more equally and to better advantage. The scheme can therefore be brought into operation at once.

9. My proposals, only aim at a redistribution of the men; and an assigning of the area over which Investigating Centres, Sub-Stations, and Out-posts, should have authority.

With regard to Shimoga Town the enclosed copy of my Memo on the inspection of the Town clearly shows the reason for for reduction in strength. Being the Head Quarter Town, it be possible to draft men from the District Reserve, to help Town Police when necessity arises.

10. Another distinct advantage gained by the redistribution of the District Force will be the strengthening of the District Reserve, by the addition to the present strength of 2 Jamedars, 2 Duffedars and 20 men. This additional number will have a most beneficial effect on the working of the Force in the District, as they can be occasionally used to fill up casualties and to carry out the duty of escort of prisoners (a very heavy item especially in Shimoga). Over and above ~~the~~ orderlies, and ~~the~~ men of the present Reserve now on duty at the Courts, the Superintendent will now have a well-drilled and well-disciplined body of 20 or 25 men at District Head Quarters to meet emergencies, quell riots, and do border patrol during the dacoity season; in fact to more or less take the place of the Special Reserve; or at any rate assist the Special Reserve when it is necessary to send it out to the District.

11. The present District Reserve is one only in name, all the men being absorbed by orderly duty, and doing office work at the District Police Office.

The allocation, ~~now being done~~ should not be interfered with by District Officers, without the special sanction of the Inspector General; except of course, as a temporary measure, when any unforeseen emergency arises.

12. It should be noted that the redistribution of the Force can be arranged for with the Force already at our disposal and at no additional cost to Government; in fact with a savings in cost of a few rupees, and in the matter of men of 9 Duffedar and 7 men. The savings will be Rs 4/- a month, but this does not include cost of clothing, pension, and contingent expenses, connected with the saving of 16 men.

more of the present proposals are an increase in the number of the investigating centres, a reduction the number of the investigating offices and a better re-distribution of man.

2. There is at present only one investigating centre at each of the Taluk Head quarters, which keeps all the Registers and Rosters has consequently to do a considerable amount of clerical and accounting work. The number of the investigating centres will, according ~~to the proposal~~ ^{to the proposal}, be raised

3. The town of Shrinoga and the Taluk of Kurasi will have one centre each, the Taluks of Shrinoga and Thittahalli 3 each the rest of the Taluks 2 each.
Each centre will keep its own Registers & Rosters & will be responsible for the whole police work of its

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

single centre existing at present. In fixing the number of centres, the main considerations that have weighed are the area of the Taluk, its population and the incidence of crime.

3. The number of ~~the~~ investigating officers has been reduced from 80 to 71. No officer drawing less than Rs 20 a month will be placed in charge of an investigating centre or Head Station, or empowered to investigate cognizable crime. This precludes ~~the~~ ^{Officers below the} ~~grade of Subedar or Head Constable~~ ^{from} ~~the~~ ^{from} the investigating work, but in out-of-the-way places, Senior Sergeants ~~and~~ or Duffedars in charge of sub stations will have power to hold inquests, ~~and~~ to receive and forward complaints and to keep a simple occurrence Register with Duty and Village Rollers.

Undertaking

4. The distribution of the force proposed by ~~the~~ ^{the} ~~law~~ ^{law} is found to give to all important stations an extra number of men taken from the smaller stations or out posts where they are no longer required. The Ghat and Kames will be watched by the Ghat Dalanis, where procurable, instead of by Constables. The District Reserve will be strengthened by the addition of 2 jemadars, 2 Duffedars and 20 men.

The usual beats will be carried out by the Sub-stations instead of by the Sub-stations or Out-posts attached to them.

appear to be well considered; and

5. These new proposals while affecting a reduction in establishment by ~~dropping~~ ^{reducing} 9 Duffedars and 7 men and ^{therefore} in cost of Rs. 48 per annum, entail at the same time no dislocation of work. And the Govt of His Highness the Maharaja are ^{therefore} pleased to sanction the new scheme proposed by the J.G. of Police, which should be brought into force as early as practicable.

5. Govt observe that there is no need to drop the designation of "Jemadar" & "Duffedar" in favor of "Head Constable" and "Sergeant" respectively, merely because the change insures uniformity. No inconvenience has been felt hitherto and ~~for~~ it is deemed inexpedient to replace by new names those
